Bay officials considering insurance pool

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Bay St. Louis City officials are comparing current insurance coverage and premiums with a new liability coverage program to be available in January through the Mississippi Municipal Association. In addition to increased coverage, the new program can save the city approximately $100,000, City Clerk Edward Favre said Wednesday. According to Favre premiums currently paid just on automobile insurance will pay the premium for the MMA program which includes general liability in addition to liability coverage for public officials, law enforcement and automobiles. This insurance program was the topic of discussion Tuesday at a meeting of the Gulf Coast Council of Governments. The Mississippi Municipal Liability Plan is the answer to the crisis affecting local government and has taken more than a year to develop, Pat Dunn, executive director of the MMA, told coast officials at the meeting. "Only by pooling resources will cities be able to get stable coverage at reasonable rates," he added. Adjustco, Inc. of Dallas, Texas has been selected to provide technical and professional services including claims handling, safety and loss control, quarterly computer loss runs, production and marketing and general administration. The plan provides coverage for claims under the Tort Claims Act up to the statutory limit of $500,000 and up to $2 million for other claims. Also at the meeting Bay Mayor Victor Frankiewicz was elected president of the council.

County millage to increase, but lower home taxes likely

By DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has set millage rates for the 1986-87 fiscal year that show some increase due to a reduced assessment for homeowners. Taxes on commercial property and school district millage have also increased, with a new tax added in the Hancock County School District for kindergarten implementation. The board unanimously approved the millage rates on Monday after Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph presented an amendment to the school district's proposed budget. As a result of the amendment, the school district will use short term notes to pay for kindergarten costs. Three-quarters of a mill will be levied to repay the notes, Randolph said. Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise presented the board with millage figures compiled by Tax Assessor and Collector Edward Murtagh, Murtagh's Staff Advalorum Consultant Lee Bennett and County Comptroller Ken Walker. According to Necaise, the millage rates are slightly higher due to a change in assessments on residential property, but tax collections will actually bring in about the same amount of money as last year. The assessment has been dropped from 15 percent on owner-occupied single family residences to 10 percent. Commercial property owners will find their taxes higher this year, he said. According to Bennett's calculations, the owner of a home valued at $25,000 and located outside the Bay-Waveland and Hancock County school districts will pay about $5 less. That homeowner will have a full tax of about $100 for 1986, receive a $51 homestead exemption credit and pay a net tax of $49. For 1985, that same homeowner would have been assessed a full tax of about $129, received a homestead exemption credit of about $75 and paid a net tax of $54. If that same home were located inside the county school district, the owner would pay about $1 less than last year, Bennett said. Total assessment for this year would be about $158, with a $102 homestead exemption credit that would result in a net tax of about $56. Last year, the total assessment for that home would have been about $207, with $150 in homestead exemption credit and a net tax of $57. If the property were still valued at $25,000 but were commercial, the taxes would be $150 outside the school district and $236 inside the school district. Last year, the tax on that same commercial property was $129, about $21 more than this year, outside the school district, and $207, or $29 more, inside the district. According to Necaise, a mill will bring in less money than last year, which is the reason for the millage increase. A mill brought in about $119,000 in revenues for the county last year but is expected to yield only about $110,000 this year, Necaise said. Taxes total 38.03 mills without the county school district tax and 63.15 mills with school district tax. Last year's totals were 34.4 mills and 55.3 mills respectively. In addition, some residents of the county who live in fire and water protection districts will pay from .5 to two mills for special district taxes. About eight mills remain unchanged from last year and include mandatory taxes required by statute, reappraisal loan repayment and computer taxes and a levy for the

T.C. JONES

Whereabouts of local businessman unknown

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The whereabouts of Hancock County businessman T.C. Jones, owner of T.C. Jones Nursery & Supplies, is being investigated by the Hancock County sheriff's office. Sheriff Ronnie Peterson on Wednesday said, "Jones, who was reportedly last seen Thursday night at his business place in Diamondhead, has not been heard from since." "Everyone we have talked to who knows Jones, indicates it would be highly unlikely for him to have left home without telling anyone," Peterson added. None of Jones' family vehicles are missing, Peterson stated. Jones, 57, is described as five foot seven inches tall, 170-175 pounds, brown eyes, balding grey hair, and always wearing a jump suit. Peterson is asking anyone who may have seen him since Thursday night, or has any information to his whereabouts, to please call his office at 467-5101. Peterson, Hancock County Criminal Investigators Delbert Seay, Glen Strong, and Alvin Ladner, and Hancock County Deputy Sheriff's Nathan Hoda and James Ladner, have been combing the area for information on Jones.

Bay property taxes increase 36 percent

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Property owners in Bay St. Louis will be paying higher taxes. The City Council voted Monday to raise the millage by 54 percent to generate revenues for state mandated school programs, loan payments for annexed area sewer and water system improvements and Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District costs. The increase was also necessary to make up for the loss in total assessed valuation due to a reduction in assessment ratio from 15 to 10 on owner-occupied residences as approved in a June election by state residents.

Commercial property owners can expect a 54.2 percent increase in taxes in the coming year.

However the tax increase on owner-occupied residences will be of less than five percent, according to City Clerk Edward Favre. The increase reflects a jump in the total assessed millage from 45.20 to 69.70.

Of this total, funds generated from 38.85 mills will be used to fund the schools.

The millage rate for school funding increased from 24.2 for a 60 percent increase in the millage while maintaining a 10 percent increase in dollars.

City officials had no choice on funding the amount requested by the school district as state law requires local governments to fund schools' budget under a 10 percent cap.

The city's operating district will be funded by revenues generated from 30.85 mills. This is only a 5.2 increase over the 1986 fiscal year.

This amount includes the general fund which provides for fire, police, streets and administration expenditures and funding for the Parks and Playgrounds Commission, library, municipal bond debt-service and the wastewater district.

Also at the meeting the council adopted the 1986-87 budget of $7,012,569. A 14.7 increase from last year is shown in the budget.

One arrested, one sought in Tuesday grand larceny

By DENA BISNETTE
George Perry Imel, 42, of Mobile, Ala., has been arrested and charged with grand larceny in Hancock County. Imel was arrested by Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Joe Pica Tuesday after Pica found Imel and another person attempting to steal an outdoor motor, Investigator Glen Strong said. The second suspect is still being sought. Strong said a neighbor heard noise coming from a house on Harrison Street and contacted the sheriff's department. The house was a weekend home owned by a Louisiana resident and was not occupied at the time of the larceny. Imel was released on $20,000 bond. Strong is in charge of the investigation, which is continuing.

THE INCORRUPTIBLE CROWN

Down through the centuries the crown was worn by the rulers of nations who had the power of life and death over their subjects. Christ offers a crown to those who serve their fellow man and their Lord Jesus Christ.

Paul used the crown of the athlete to illustrate the crown the faithful believer will receive. He said, "Do you know that in a race all the runners run, but only one gets the prize? Run in such a way to get the prize. (1 Corinthians 9:24)

All who run correctly will win the prize in God's service.

To Timothy Paul said, "...similarly, if anyone competes as an athlete, he does not receive the victor's crown unless he competes according to the rules." (II Timothy 2:5)

Where do we get a copy of the rules? Jesus said, "There is a judge for the one who rejects me and does not accept my words; that very word I spoke will condemn him at the last day." (John 12:48)

This would include the writings of the inspired men of the first century. Paul stated, "If anybody thinks he is a prophet or spiritually gifted, let him acknowledge that what I am writing to you is the Lord's command." (I Corinthians 14:37)

Jesus promised the apostles would be guided into all truth." (John 16:13)

Therefore the New Testament is the rule book for the follower of Christ. It must be followed by those who would win the "incorruptible crown."

In the Greek games, no one could compete in the games unless he was a Greek citizen. No unsaved person can participate in the service of the Lord for rewards. One must experience the new birth to get into the kingdom of Christ. To Nicodemus, Jesus answered, "I tell you the truth, unless a man is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God. (John 3:5)

The Spirit begets the Christian through the word.

Peter confirmed, "Now that you have purified yourselves by obeying the truth...For you have been born again, not of perishable seed, but of the imperishable, through the living and enduring word." (I Peter 1:22-23)

Baptism is a burial and a resurrection to new life. (Roman 6:3-4; Phil. 2:12) Peter says, as water pushed Noah's ark above the waters of the flood, baptism of water saves. (I Peter 3:21)

The begetting of the Holy Spirit by the word and baptism in water completes the new birth. When one is saved he is added to the church and translated into the kingdom by the Lord. (Acts 2:41, 47; Colossians 1:13)

The Greek games had hard and fast rules for all participants. The New Testament contains the rules for the believers who would enter the spiritual race to win the "incorruptible crown."

The believer must deny himself of anything that would weigh him down and hold him back. The writer of Hebrews said, "...let us throw off everything that hinders and the sin which so easily entangles, and let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us. (Hebrews 12:1)

The strength of the believer is in the Lord. Paul taught, "Finally, be strong in the Lord and his mighty power, put on the full armor of God to that you can take your stand against the devil's schemes." (Ephesians 6:10-11)

The believer must place his all upon the altar of the Lord. The sacrifices are spiritual and not animal. Paul said, "Therefore I urge you, brothers, in view of God's mercy, to offer your bodies as living sacrifices, holy and pleasing to God—which is your spiritual worship." Romans 12:1-2)

The believer must, by faith, refuse anything that would stand in the way of spiritual progress. Let Moses illustrate. He would not substitute Egypt's throne or its riches for his faithfulness to God and his oppressed people. (Hebrews 11:24-29)

While facing the guillotine for his faith, Paul said, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Now there is stored for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will award me on that day—and not only me but also all who have longed for his appearing." (I Timothy 4:7-8)

May seeking that "incorruptible crown" be the highest priority of our lives!

Bay couple robbed after roofing scam

An elderly couple in Bay St. Louis was robbed of $1,440 this week following a "roofing scam."

Police are looking for three Hispanic men who allegedly robbed the couple Monday.

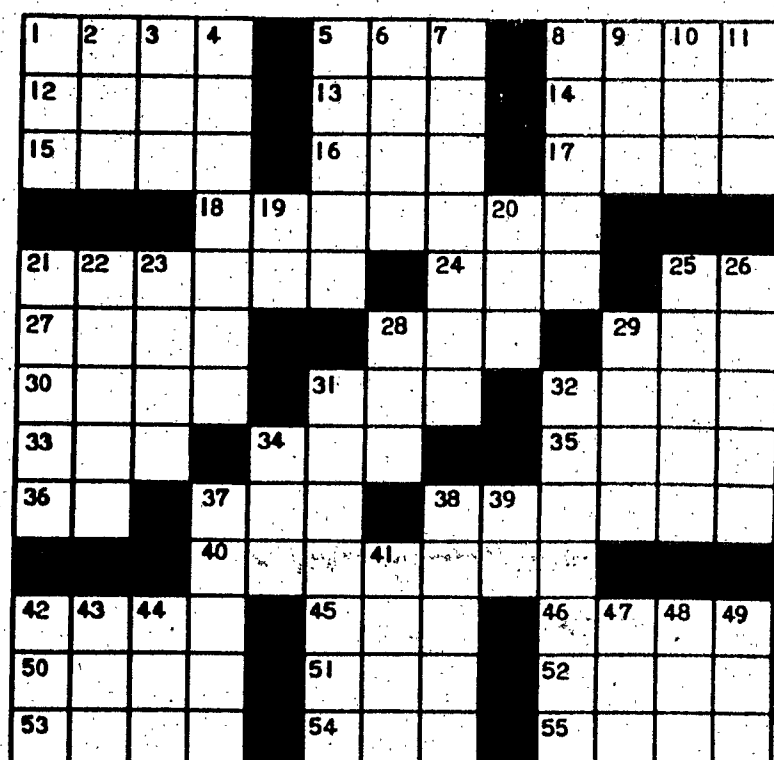

According to police, the three men approached the couple at their home on Main Street, told them their chimney needed repairing and offered to do the work for free.

While one man talked to the couple, the second man went up on the roof and did some work and the third went inside after saying he had to check the interior of the house, police said.

The trio then allegedly asked for $600 in payment for the job. The woman became frightened and paid them $280, giving the men a chance to see where she kept her money, police said.

One of the men is between 40 and 50 years old. The others are described as being in their mid-20s to mid-30s. They were driving a late-model black truck, possibly a Ford, which had a large motor or possibly a welding machine in the back, police said.

Oil severance tax collections totaled $1.63 million during July, compared to $4.31 million during the same period a year ago. Natural gas severance tax collections during July were $1.65 million, compared to $2.50 million a year ago.

GED

"Project Second Chance: Dropouts in America," a documentary about the scope and social cost of the nationwide school dropout problem, will be broadcast at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 1 on Mississippi ETV. It will be rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 5. At 1:30 that Sunday, Jack Schweitzer will host a discussion on Mississippi's dropout problem on "Access."

"Project Second Chance," narrated by Robert MacNeil of "The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour," points out that one in four students leaves school before receiving a high school diploma, often limiting his or her economic expectations for life.

In addition to pointing out the problem and its consequences, the documentary offers a story of hope through examples of persons in six states—California, New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Kentucky and Arkansas—who gave themselves a second chance by taking advantage of state or locally administered programs leading to a GED high school equivalency degree.

Mississippi ETV also is airing The GED-TV Series at noon, Mondays and Fridays, with rebroadcasts at 6 and 6:30 p.m. Sundays for the purpose of helping viewers brush up on the skills necessary to have in order to pass the GED test and receive a High School Equivalency Certificate.

Countywide Membership Drive September 15-26

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce

Highway 90 467-9081 Bay St. Louis

Quotables by CUEVAS

High school football fans will see local teams in action on both Friday and Saturday nights.

Hancock North Central off to a good season start at 2-0, will host the Stone County Tomcats, who are also 2-0, at Hawk stadium.

The Hawks and Tomcats have had some very interesting games in recent years, so Friday night should not be an exception.

The Tigers of Bay High, now 1-1 for the season, will journey to Pearl River Central on Friday night.

The Tigers lost only by two points in their season opener to Stone County.

Bay High has had some injuries, and it is hoped all players will be ready for Friday night.

Pass Christian's Pirates will also travel this week when they visit St. Martin.

The scrappy Pirates are 0-2 for the season, and are itching to break into the winning column.

St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will play Saturday night in Biloxi.

Like the Pirates, the Rocks will be trying to break into the winning column in a game against Mercy Cross.

The Rock-A-Chaws, Hawks, Tigers and Pirates all can use some good fan support this weekend.

We hope to see you at the games. Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m.

The Annual Diamondhead Arts and Creative Crafts Show is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 27 at Diamondhead.

We realize this is a little over a week away, but thought we would mention it now, so you can plan accordingly.

Every year the event grows and indications are, according to Linda Wallace, there will be a wide variety of booths.

Some 150 booths are expected and all types of foods will be available.

Works to be shown will include china, painted porcelain, copper work, paintings, stenciling, jewelry, just to mention a few.

The show will be at Diamondhead's Country Club circle and grounds, and will be from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

House gets serious in war on drugs

When I was in South Mississippi over the Labor Day holiday, a good friend stopped me on the street to offer this advice: "You guys in the House of Representatives quit talking about the war on drugs if you are not going to wage war."

On Sept. 11, the House did quit talking and declared that war by giving final approval to legislation which would provide new weapons in the battle against illegal drugs including the required use of the military and the reinstitution of the federal death penalty for some drug dealers.

Another weapon is a change in the exclusionary rule to permit the introduction of illegally obtained evidence at criminal trials in cases where a police officer acting in good faith makes an error in a warrantless search situation.

There is more good news. The overall legislation escalates the war on drugs by investing more than a billion dollars in 1987 for enforcement, education, and crop eradication and by withholding aid from drug-producing countries.

Major provisions would increase penalties for violators and establish a 20-year-to-life sentence for trafficking and manufacturing which results in serious injury or death.

The legislation would provide money for additional drug enforcement agents, prison construction and grants to local police, and increase the Coast Guard authorization for more personnel and equipment for seaborne interception of drugs.

The purpose of our war is to stop drugs from being grown and produced in countries around the world. We must develop ways to protect our shores and borders from having illegal drugs smuggled into our country.

We must be able to interdict these drugs before they make it onto America's streets. That is the supply side of the problem.

municate to our citizens the fatal danger of drug use and its potential for economic ruin.

If we are serious about stopping the drug traffic coming into the U.S., we should make full use of our military equipment and personnel in sufficient numbers to halt the unlawful penetration of drug traffickers across our borders.

With the use of sophisticated radar systems, the military could locate, pursue, seize and arrest crews of aircraft and vessels that are trafficking in drugs along our borders.

Illegal and illicit drugs are invading our country, polluting our children, harming the economy and undermining the social fiber of our country. If trying to halt the entry of these drugs into our country with the military does not constitute defending our shores, I do not know what does.

One point is clear. The drug abuse problem from either the supply or demand side is not new and will not be solved overnight. Only a bipartisan, long-term commitment to a balanced, comprehensive approach will succeed in giving us a drug free America.

The legislation passed by the House is not perfect, but it is revolutionary in providing us with the weapons we need to wage war. And let there be no doubt, this is war!

We need you.

Governor's closet door cracks open, candidate emerges

By BILL MINOR

JACKSON—Lately we've been seeing a "new" Bill Allain—a much more visible governor, picking up on the popular causes, doing what governors normally do to stay in the public eye three years into their term.

This is a distinct change from the Allain we had been seeing in the first part of this year, and the latter part of 1985 when the moody Mississippi chief executive went back into his shell, becoming once again the "invisible governor."

Suddenly a month ago, Allain apparently had taken all the media criticism he could stand that his administration was doing nothing in economic development, and he decided to dispel the image with a flurry of activity.

He made a big point of the fact that he was going to get on an airplane and go to New York for a week-long round of industry hunting in connection with a round of conferences sponsored by IBM.

What Allain didn't mention was that this was the same invitation the mega-corporation has been extending for years to every state to send mostly middle-level people for administrative training conducted by top business executives brought in by IBM.

In other words, Allain in his third year as governor of 2.6 million Mississippians was going to school to learn how to be an administrator. Perhaps that's better than some of his predecessors, who had never learned anything about administration.

But Allain did some of the other obligatory things for governors while he was in New York, such as meeting with the New York Times editorial board and interviews with the Wall Street Journal and several other business publications.

Allain, in any case, came back to Mississippi all pumped up and ever since, he has made a big show of going after industry, and emphasizing statistics on some 50,000 new jobs created in the past two years, but ignoring the fact that Mississippi at 13 percent has the highest unemployment rate in the nation.

Nor has Allain acknowledged the fact that Mississippi has lost thousands of jobs in the textile and wood-using industries since the 1961 recession that apparently will never be recovered.

However, taking a cue from President Reagan, Allain has chosen to emphasize only the good news so that the people won't think that much about all the bad news in the economy.

During the past week, Allain seized upon another popular cause, the War on Drugs, that has become the national diversion in Washington from the bitter realities of the Gramm-Rudman spending cuts that must be made next month.

Now Allain is undertaking something he has not done since he became governor: he is going out of his way to establish friendly relations with the state press.

For the first time since he moved into the governor's mansion, Allain is opening up the grand old Georgian house for a big dinner party at which he will be host, and the invited guests will be 150 editors, publishers, and other members of the news media around the state.

Included will be the Capitol Press Corps, which Allain has kept at arms' length in contrast with the relationship when he was attorney general.

Allain's surprise ice-breaker with the press this week at the mansion will be combined with a bit of propagandizing in behalf of his administration by several of his key department heads.

This sudden burst of activity by Allain to change his image as an aloof, withdrawn occupant of the governor's chair naturally has peaked the interest of political observers who can only interpret it as the beginning of Allain's campaign for another term in the office.

Those closest to Allain still maintain that he is not personally committed to seek another term as governor if the gubernatorial succession constitutional amendment passes in November. But there is less talk now from Allain insiders that the inscrutable lawyer has no taste for another term.

Recently speculation has been increasing that Allain will closely weigh his decision in light of how much of a margin the succession amendment passes in November. If it is very close, some say, Allain would forego re-election.

Even though there has been little public discussion lately about the succession amendment, the quiet talk is that many Mississippians perceive the vote as a referendum on Allain, which will tend to increase the negative vote.

There's no doubt that if Allain would declare he would not be a candidate for re-election, it would pass easily. But he's not going to do that.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi, reports on 1985 activities

Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi, Inc. began its second decade of service to the handicapped population of the Mississippi Gulf Coast in 1985. During the first decade of Goodwill existence there have been challenges to its stability and growth.

Changes in economic and political condition, financial strains, relocation of facilities, a disastrous fire, two hurricanes, one tornado, and a couple of floods have "seasoned" a once "new Goodwill."

Handicapped workers, board and staff have answered the challenge. With determination, hard work and substantial community support, Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi, Inc. rests on a stable personnel and financial basis with good physical facilities helping the disabled help themselves. Goodwill continued its work in 1985.

Goodwill's service to the disabled can be divided into two categories:

1. On-going service to those handicapped who remain as permanent employees of Goodwill.

2. Transitional service to those handicapped who receive temporary training and/or jobs as a preliminary step to employment elsewhere or other pursuits such as further education.

Goodwill provided $237,546 in wages and fringe benefits to 404 disabled people on a daily basis. This represents a dollar increase of about 14 percent over the previous year.

The "Living Skills" program sponsored by Goodwill's Board of Directors completed its first full year providing vital information and a forum of discussion for employee concerns other than in the work sphere.

Perhaps more importantly than anything else, Goodwill provided the opportunity for men and women, who happen to be disabled, to work creatively to develop themselves and to contribute to the overall well being of our community.

Goodwill also continued its work on a transitional basis to certain handicapped individuals - providing referrals, training and placement assistance.

Goodwill maintained a close relationship with other agencies in the rehabilitation field - maximizing both service to the disabled and financial resources.

Goodwill worked closely with the Cheshire Home and South Mississippi Retardation Center in providing training for their residents.

Goodwill supported Rehab for the Blind and Royal Maid in their establishment of a fine new facility on the Coast for the visually impaired. Goodwill worked with the United Way in its fund raising efforts and promoting inter-agency cooperation.

Goodwill made substantial progress in 1985 in the area of outside placement of handicapped individuals. Nine people moved through various phases of Goodwill's training, counseling, referral, and placement program into employment elsewhere.

Outside placement improved the lot of the individuals, made room for more trainees at Goodwill and demonstrated the job readiness of the disabled.

Goodwill over the years has tried to increase employment opportunities for the disabled within Goodwill. One area that seems to offer promise is the securing of contracts for services (a.k.a. territorial contracts)

"Having confidence in the ability and integrity of Mike Ladner we hereby designate him to be a local representative of the State Veterans Affairs Commission to assist, advise and counsel with veterans of all wars and their dependents in matters relating to and contingent upon the service of such veterans in the Armed Forces of the United States of America," the citation states.

Little Theatre director pleased with actors' rehearsal efforts

Props are in place, the lights set, and the actors ready for this evening's opening of "Mass Appeal" at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre playhouse on Boardman Avenue.

Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.
The play, written by Bill C. Davis, features Rick Rotundo and Bill Walker in the roles of parish pastor and young seminarian, respectively, in conflict about life in the priesthood and "how to handle the parish."

Touching, funny, topical and fast paced, "Mass Appeal" is directed by veteran Bay St. Louis Little Theatre director, Mike Cuevas.

Her directing credits include "Star Spangled Girl," "Butterflies are Free," "Anything Goes," "Bells are Ringing" and last season's "The Bad Seed."

"This has been an exciting play to direct. The roles are challenging and quite a stretch for both actors," Cuevas said.

"Rick has developed quite a reputation as a comedic actor and in the role of Pastor Tim Farley the audience will see how he has fine tuned his comedy skills to a less slapstick style and developed a fine dramatic edge to his acting," the director added.

"Bill, who has primarily been a musical performer, brings a touching sincerity and righteousness of youth to the character of Mark Dolson," Cuevas stated.

"I'm especially excited about the prospect of entering "Mass Appeal" in the Mississippi Theatre Association community theatre festival in January," said Mrs. Cuevas.

Reservations may be made by calling 467-4632. The production will run through Saturday evening. Admission is $5.

A boon to the budget, and versatile and delicious, in the bargain, is the picnic ham, lower in price than its more elegant relative the traditional ham, and quite tasty in its own right.

The "smoked picnic" or "smoked pork shoulder picnic" as it is often labeled, tastes and looks like ham—but, while ham is a hindquarter cut with a thin round leg bone, the picnic is a forequarter cut, containing a thick upper arm bone, and is usually half or less the size of a ham, with a higher ratio of bone and fat.

Most are fully cooked already, but once in a while you may come across a "cook-before-eating" picnic at the meat counter. If you want to make it even tastier—at least to my taste—bake it.

And—I am one of those who like to cut out some of the saltiness by simmering the picnic ham before baking it. To get the most from your food dollar, but the whole picnic and make it serve for several meals—baked ham for dinner one night, steaks or sandwiches another, cubed ham for casserole meals, and finally, for Heaven's sake, let's not forget to cook up at least one tasty pot of red beans and rice with the ham bone and some of the pieces of ham! As soon as I get a picnic home from the market, I cut off the skin, to save for baked beans and such. Next, I simmer the ham, then I glaze it and bake it—and take it from there.

So, here's:

GLAZED PICNIC

First step: Put the 6 to 8 pound (approximately) picnic, fat side up, in a heavy pot, cover with cold water and bring to a boil. Add a carrot, an onion, celery stalk and a bay leaf. Cover, and let it simmer along for three hours or a bit more, until tender. (If you haven't removed the rind, do so now). Then set the ham, fat side up, in a shallow roasting pan.

Score the fat in diamond pattern, and spread with a mixture of light brown sugar, mustard and a bit of jelly or preserves and stud with cloves, if you wish. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 20 minutes or so, until well glazed and pretty! Cut in thin slices. (Six to 8 servings or more).

Delta Blues Festival scheduled Saturday

The Mississippi Delta Blues Festival will be staged Saturday at Freedom Village near Greenville.

Preceded on Friday night by a "Blues Cruise" on the Mississippi River, the Saturday event begins around 11:30 a.m. and lasts until sundown. Admission is $5.

Among the featured performers will be James "Son" Thomas, Sam Myers, Denise Lasalle, Frank Frost, Roosevelt "Booby" Barnes, the Z.Z. Hill Blues Band, and the Mississippi Fife and Drum Band.

Freedom Village is just a few miles from Greenville, located between Hwy 1 and Old Highway 61.

Air service into Greenville is provided by Republic Airlines.

From Memphis, take Hwy 61 or Hwy 1, also known as the scenic Great River Road. From Arkansas, take Hwy 82.

The four Greenville hotels are the Holiday Inn, Ramada Inn, Best Western, and Regis Inn (downtown near the levee). Their rates range from $35 to $50 for double occupancy.

Doe's Eat Place, C&G's (a restored train depot), and the Palace Inn are restaurants in the Greenville area well-known for their excellent food and unique atmosphere. And, of course, there's good eating at the festival.

After-hours, blues aficionados are fond of The Flowing Fountain on Nelson Street, and 846 Main Street, both local blues clubs.

For further information, contact the sponsors: Mississippi Action for Community Education (MACE), 121 South Harvey, Greenville, MS 38701, telephone (601) 335-3523.

The Delta blues may also be found in nearby Clarksdale at the Delta Blues Museum, a division of the Carnegie Public Library.

Here, director Sid Graves has amassed an extensive collection related to the blues, its history, and its old-time practitioners.

Admission is free. Write P.O. Box 280, Clarksdale, MS 38614 or call (601) 624-4461 for more information.

ETV Brief

STAR WARS

Public television's "Nova" and "Frontline" series explore the Strategic Defense Initiative (SDI) in a rebroadcast of "Visions of Star Wars" at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 23 on Mississippi ETV.

The program was first broadcast in April.

"Nova" and "Frontline" go behind the scenes—into laboratories across the country—to meet scientists who are wrestling with the challenge of creating a new defense technology.

"Some scientists believe SDI is a shallow, mechanistic attempt to solve our problems," said Andrew Liebman, co-producer of the program. "One in particular told me, 'If I were an enemy, I'd put a bomb on a boat in the harbor and then SDI does you no good.'"

But defense expert Al Caine, professor of public policy at Harvard University's John F. Kennedy School of Government, says: "I don't think it was particularly outrageous and irresponsible. If you look carefully at the (President's) speech (announcing SDI), it is framed more as a vision, an aspiration, a hope that this is something we ought to be working on."

Mr. Law Enforcement Officer:

The law enforcement officer and the citizen

Have you ever had this happen to you and wonder why? You're in a bar having a quiet, friendly drink when some jerk comes up and starts harassing you. Suddenly, he hits you and both of you start fighting. The police are called and arrive on the scene. But much to your amazement and protest you are arrested along with the other person.

You continue the protest that he started the fight and that you were only defending yourself. It's he that should be in jail and not you. However, your protest falls on deaf ears.

Why? Look at it from the officers point of view. First, you both were disturbing the peace when they saw you. You both were fighting when they saw you. To them you are both guilty of these offenses regardless of who started the altercation.

Secondly, it is your word against the other person's who started the fight unless some witness comes forward to verify your word.

But that still does not excuse you from the guilt of disturbing the peace by fighting.

The officers are bound by law to arrest who ever they observe committing the offense. They cannot arrest one and let the other go.

It's up to the judge to decide guilt or innocence.

In these situations there are laws that are provided for you as a citizen to be protected from harassment when you are trying to have a quiet, friendly drink.

If someone begins to pester you just annoyingly, you can simply move to some place else in the bar. You may protest that you were there first but if you're really trying to avoid a fight this is the best thing to do. Most of your witnesses can testify that you went "out of your way" to avoid a fight.

If the person continues to annoy you by use of filthy or obscene language and/or gestures he is breaking the law. You do have legal recourse for that and could, if you so choose, swear out an affidavit and warrant for his arrest. If he strikes you, again you have legal recourse as above.

However, if he strikes you, and you start swinging back, to protect your macho image you may find yourself sitting in jail along with this jerk you wanted to get away from in the first place.

Molpus claims victory in 16th section case

JACKSON—Secretary of State Dick Molpus reports the Board of Trustees of the Louisville Municipal Separate School District has signed an agreement to enforce the law fully in regard to Sixteenth Section Lands.

All below-market leases in Winston County have been or will be in the near future renegotiated to a fair and reasonable price. Molpus recommended to Circuit Judge James Sumner that a lawsuit against the board be dismissed, and the order was entered Sept. 10.

In agreeing to the dismissal of the suit, Molpus stated, "I consider this to be a milestone in the administration of Sixteenth Section Lands. It is important to Winston County because school-age children there will reap the benefits of a better financed school system."

"It is equally or more important, however, to the State as a whole since a clear message is sent that public school lands must be leased competitively and that the law is very explicit in that regard," he added.

When asked if he anticipates any further litigation, Molpus said, "While I am obviously hopeful that further lawsuits will not be necessary, I am committed to ensuring that local school boards and trustees protect the school-age children's interest when it comes to Sixteenth Section matters, and we will do what we have to do."

"For the most part, school boards statewide have aggressively pursued increasing the amount of rent from Sixteenth Section property, and this development today is another step toward the successful completion of renegotiation of below-market leases," Molpus said.

In 1985, nearly half the leases in Winston County were for less than 20 cents per acre, and leases executed prior to July, 1978, averaged eight cents per acre.

Both the Winston County Board of Supervisors and the Louisville School Board refused instructions from the Secretary of State to review and renegotiate those leases let for less than fair-market value as mandated by the 1978 Sixteenth Section Reform Act.

After that refusal, the lawsuit was filed in December, 1985 by Attorney General Ed Pittman at Molpus' request.

The efforts announced as successfully completed were part of a coordinated four-step process designed to increase revenues from the School Trust Lands.

The four-step process began in 1984 with requiring the classification of all trust lands according to the highest and best use.

The second step required the attachment of appraisals to leases filed with the Office of the Secretary of State.

The third and the fourth steps required the review of all post- and pre-1978 leases and the renegotiation of all leases executed for below-market rentals.

When Molpus began his push, over one-third of the total of 10,000 leases statewide were at less than 10 cents per acre. To date the great majority of those leases have been renegotiated or are in the process of being renegotiated.

In April, 1986 the Secretary of State's office announced that revenue to the schools had increased by $2,000,000.

NORDA scientists coordinating international research project

Starting with only satellite imagery, scientists from the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity here at NSTL in Hancock County, working with more than 60 ocean investigators from six countries, have discovered a permanent ocean front near the prime meridian in the Mediterranean Sea.

NORDA researcher, Paul La Violette of Waveland is principal investigator and coordinator of the Western Mediterranean Circulation Experiment, a multi-platform, interdisciplinary oceanographic experiment designed to derive the circulation of the western Mediterranean Sea.

To achieve their common goal, the international group of scientists formed a consortium and together pooled talents, instruments and resources for the one-year experiment from October 1985 through November 1986.

WMCE investigators from NORDA include Bob Arnone and Kim Saunders of Picayune; Denis Wiesenburg of Long Beach; Pavel Plstek of Bay St. Louis; George Heburn, Tom Kinder, Joe McCaffrey and Hank Perkins of Slidell, La.; and Jim Mitchell of New Orleans.

La Violette said that while satellite thermal imagery and space shuttle photography had indicated the feature's existence for a number of years, the front which extends from Almeria, Spain to Oran, Algeria had not appeared in the analyses of earlier ship data nor in model studies of the region based on these early analyses.

Prior studies show the region in the Mediterranean Sea east of the Alboran Gyre having a partially cyclonic circulation.

These studies and the models based on these studies show the eastward-moving current predominantly hugging the African coast.

Instead, the imagery indicates that immediately east of the Alboran Gyre, the surface waters ricochet back north from Cape Tres Forcas on the African coast and, following a somewhat anti-cyclonic path, go by Cape Gato on the Spanish coast and come south again west of the prime meridian toward Oran.

Following preliminary surveys by Spanish oceanographers, NORDA researchers conducted in-depth studies of the Almeria-Oran front in May.

"The Spanish were the first of us to go into the area and make extensive in situ measurements. They went in there in March and did an oceanographic survey while Joe McCaffrey and I flew overhead in a Naval Research Laboratory aircraft," La Violette said.

"Based on quick-look analysis of the data the Spanish team had collected, we returned in May, and using the USNS LYNCH and an NRL aircraft, we explored the frontal region and the area to the east extensively over a three-week period.

"The data show a strong salinity-driven front. They show that a tremendous amount of nutrient and biological change takes place along as well as across the front. While we can follow the movements of the front using satellite thermal imagery, the temperature of the water is really only a convenient tracer. The main factor affecting the density flow is the salinity."

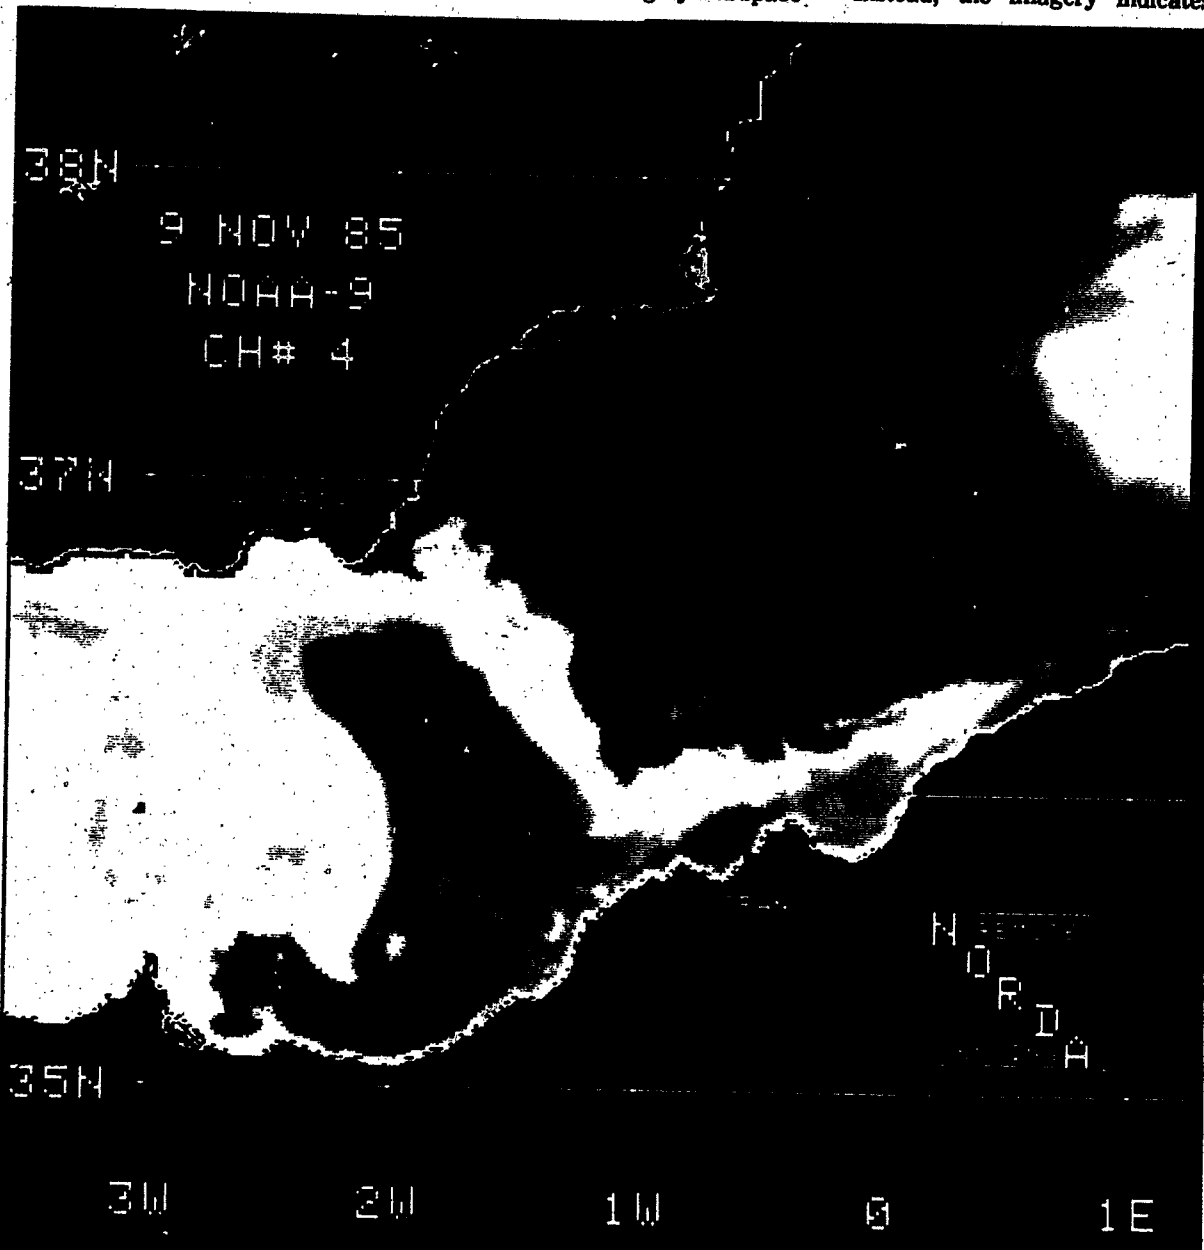

WMCE investigators are setting up a series of standard stations across that front to monitor not only its seasonal changes, but also the changes from year to year over the next five years.

With the establishment of the stations, research vessels transiting the area would collect oceanographic data on a time available basis and transmit the data back to a WMCE data bank at NORDA.

The initial results of one of the French WMCE investigators using a rotating pan formed the basis for the consortium's hypothesis for the experiment.

His investigation indicated that the angle of incidence of the front with the Algerian coast would determine the shape of the eddies spawned along the Algerian coast.

That is, if the angle of incidence was flat, the eddies would be flat and if the angle was steep, the eddies would be large and very pronounced.

MEDITERRANEAN FRONT—An environmental satellite infrared image (NOAA 9) indicates the presence of the Almeria-Oran front. The lighter portions of this thermal picture represent the cold upwelled eastward-moving Atlantic waters while the darker portions represent the warmer waters of the Mediterranean Sea.

Supervisors compromise on carryover funds

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has reached a compromise regarding how to spend remaining 1985-86 district road and bridge funds after full implementation of the unit system.

The board voted unanimously on the compromise Monday after a solution proposed by Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro was defeated on a three-to-two vote.

Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner said his vote for the compromise was "reluctant."

Perniciaro originally proposed that any road and bridge funds now assigned to a particular beat retain that assignment into the next fiscal year rather than being pooled under the unit system.

The unit system will become effective Oct. 1 with the beginning of the 1986-87 fiscal year. Road and bridge funds will be pooled rather than divided equally among the five beats, with projects being carried out on a priority basis.

Perniciaro said he felt it would not be fair to include the funds that will be carried over because the money should be used to benefit the residents in the five beats.

He pointed out that funds carried over from the Beat Four account, for example, might wind up being used in some other district.

He also said the beats have different amounts of carry over and might not get the full amounts if the funds go into the unit system pool.

Beat Two Supervisor and Board President A.A. Kellar said he agreed with Perniciaro.

"We should start with a zero balance. I believe that is the only true way we can find out how well the unit system works," he said.

"If we put the carryover in there, the unit system will look real good but we won't have an accurate picture of how much it's costing us."

He suggested that some type of interfund loan could be used to provide road and bridge maintenance funding until tax collections become available.

Kellar stepped down as president to second Perniciaro's motion, which was defeated by votes from Ladner, Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge and Beat Five Supervisor James Travira.

Courge said he does not want to start the unit system with a zero balance in road and bridge because he does not want to hinder recently hired Road Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson in his work.

Courge said it will be hard enough to set up a new system with the money available.

"This is not right. That money was divided five ways and each beat should get the benefit of it," Kellar argued.

Ladner said he did not disagree with Kellar's point about who should receive the benefit of the funds being carried over but he does not agree with starting with a zero balance.

"If we are going to break these accounts, we are not going to have any money to operate with," Ladner said.

The county is on a different fiscal year from its tax collection department as a result of a state mandate, Chancery Clerk Mike Necaise explained.

Necaise reminded the board that although the fiscal year begins on Oct. 1, the tax year begins in January, making collections first available sometime around February.

"I want to caution the board against use of an interfund loan from the general fund before tax revenues come in. That could drain the general fund and we might end up borrowing money just to operate," Necaise added.

Courge proposed the compromise move, which will leave the carryover funds in the road and bridge account until March 1.

"You can say whatever you want, but when it's all said and done we're the ones who are going to be responsible for making the unit system work," Courge said.

"We might not have that much left anyway. Jimmy (Travira) has said that he's already used his road and bridge money, and Sammy (Perniciaro) and Roger Dale (Ladner) committed some more today."

Courge then addressed Kellar, saying that he believes Beat One and Beat Two will be asked to assist Waveland in some way before the end of the fiscal year, particularly in view of the agreements reached with Bay St. Louis Monday.

Courge asked for a gentleman's agreement that would allow whatever amount of carryover each supervisor puts into the unit system's road and bridge account to be used for that particular beat later.

Kellar objected, stating, "That type of agreement will make us more open to criticism than ever."

Courge added to his proposal that under the agreement, payments for any contracts let before Oct. 1 should be taken out of carryover funds rather than new road and bridge funds.

In addition, any payments due to a particular beat, such as FEMA money for Beat Five, will be added to the carryover for that beat.

Before voting for the compromise, Kellar requested that precise records be kept from Oct. 1, 1986, to Sept. 30, 1987, to find out exactly how much money can be saved by the unit system.

"People have harped and harped about saving money, but I just can't see how we're going to save," the supervisor said.

"I didn't support the county unit system but it passed and we have to live with it. We've got to make it work and if it doesn't, we will be blamed for it," Courge said.

"Regardless of what system you're under, it's just as good as the people who are its administrators. It's going to work as well as you want it to work," Ladner added.

'Inherit the Wind' opens Center Stage season

"Inherit the Wind," with Boyce Holleman and Dr. T. William Howard, opens the 12th season for Center Stage on Friday at the Gulf Coast Saenger Theatre in Biloxi.

The courtroom drama by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, which is based on the Scopes monkey trial of 1925, was a smash hit on Broadway in the mid-1950s.

"Inherit the Wind" is being presented as both the first play of the 1986-87 season and as a special fund-raiser for the new Center Stage theatre. There will be two performances only, on Sept. 19 and 20, with an 8:15 p.m. curtain.

Tickets are $9 for general adult and $6 for balcony seats, students, and senior citizens.

Any Center Stage season ticket holder can attend either performance at no additional cost, however. Advance reserved seat tickets are on sale daily from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Center Stage Cowan Road location in Gulfport, 896-6455.

Information on season ticket savings is also available.

Under the direction of Chuck White, the production includes a large Coast-wide cast. Featured with Holleman and Howard are Peter Halat, David Lucas, Don Moore, Carole O'Connor, Michael O'Neill, Don Perin, Bill Ruble, and four others.

NEW WARDENS

New conservation officers are on the job in many areas of Mississippi, according to the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Four conservation officers and a new area manager have finished a basic course of instruction at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy at Whitfield.

New conservation personnel include Kenneth Norris, Mayersville, Issaquena County; Timothy Brinkley, West Point, Clay County; Robert Clark McMinn, Jr., Starkville, Oktibbeha County; Danny Smith, Weason, Lincoln County; and Jim Carver, Poplarville, area manager on the Wolf River Wildlife Management Area.

TENNIS SCHOLARSHIP—Terrie Rhodes, 20, daughter of Billy Rhodes and Joyce Rhodes, both of Bay St. Louis, has accepted a tennis scholarship at Livingston (Ala.) University located on I-59 30 miles east of Meridian. Rhodes was an outstanding athlete at Bay Senior High where she was a Beta graduate, named most valuable in basketball, all-district in volleyball and all-conference in tennis. She was also selected to play in the Mississippi North-South Basketball Game. She earned a two-year basketball scholarship to Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville where, in her sophomore year, she won state and regional girls singles tennis titles and competed in national championships in Midland, Texas. Rhodes was employed during the summer at the YMCA Blue Ridge Assembly Conference Center in Black Mountain, N.C. (Echo staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Top-ranked HNC Hawks to face undefeated Stone County Tomcats

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Friday's game between the Hancock North Central Hawks and the Stone County Tomcats will be a match of undefeated teams with two wins to their credit.

Although the Hawks will have the home field advantage, Head Coach Irvin Favre said this will be a big game for Hancock.

"We need the same type of play this week as we had against Pearl River Central but we must eliminate the high number of penalties," he added.

Defensively the Hawks will have to concentrate on a couple of key Stone County players, Favre said.

One player Hancock will be watching for is Running Back Michael Howze, rated as one of the top running backs on the coast.

Favre said he is probably the fastest running back on the coast and Hancock must contain him to win the game.

The Hawks will also be keying returning Quarterback Cory Diaz.

In earlier games this season, Diaz has led his team to wins with touchdown passes and scoring quarterback keeper plays.

Stone County defeated Bay High 13-11 and won 7-0 over George County.

In addition to these key players, Favre said the Hawks must do a good job of blocking Stone County's secondary line which "comes up fast and tough."

Favre added he doesn't believe the Hawks rank of 14 in a statewide high school poll will cause any trouble this week.

"The players aren't really paying any attention to the ranking, the recognition for the players is good but they still have to get out there and play Friday night," he said.

"And you can be knocked out of the ranking in one game," Favre said.

"We are looking for a big game and hope the great support by the fans will continue," he said.

Kickoff will be at 7:30 p.m.

Bay High Tigers face 'must win' situation in Blue Devil clash

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis High School Tigers will try for their second district and conference win Friday when they travel to Carriere to meet the Pearl River Central Blue Devils.

The Blue Devils have an 0-2 record for the season but no losses in conference play, which will put extra pressure on the Tigers to win, Tiger Head Coach Cleveland Williams said.

"The Tiger have a must win situation confronting us, because we are 1-1 in conference play," the coach added.

Williams said he expects the game to be a hard contest.

"This game has a lot riding on it as far as conference and district are concerned, and the Blue Devils play a tough game against the Tigers every year," he said.

Although the Tigers suffered injuries in the first two games, Williams said that may not be a factor Friday.

"For the past two weeks the Tigers have had the interior offensive linemen out, but they should be ready to play this weekend against the Blue Devils," he said.

"Starters Greg Necaise, Geja Carter and Billy Ross will be back in the lineup for this contest, but we are still questioning whether Jerry Island will return."

Necaise, Carter, Ross and Island play tackle, guard, center and guard, respectively. Island also doubles as a defensive tackle.

The Blue Devils have also been suffering from early season injury problems.

"Pearl River Central has had its fullback out for two weeks and it's questionable whether (Raymond) Spiers will return to the lineup for this weekend," Williams said.

"If he does, he will give them a big boost because their offensive scheme is built around him."

"Playing without him, we know Coach (David) Oakes will have some fine receivers who are quick and particularly show quickness in the backfield."

"Cedric Tillman will be at quarterback. He throws real good time route passes and is strong on option plays," the coach added.

Williams said he expects the Tigers to be ready to take on those key players.

"Bay High has played two games without all of its offensive linemen, and it will be an up-lift for the team to have everyone back in good health. We have spent a lot of time working on injuries and it looks like all of them are responding well to treatment," the coach said.

Williams said that having veteran players out during the past two weeks has helped the Tigers to some degree by providing the team with more depth.

Younger players were able to obtain game experience, something needed on both the offensive and defensive sides, the coach said.

"For the Tiger defense, Wayne Karl has done a terrific job substituting for Greg Necaise. Mike LeGros, Jerry Island and Eddie Bourgeois have picked up the slack at the defensive end slot, and Courtney Laureys and Doral Nichols have have both given the Tigers more depth at the defensive tackle slot," Williams added.

Probable starters on offense Friday include Dwayne Robertson, quarterback; Mark Haverty, fullback; Brian Laneaux, running back; Dante Curry, split end; Andrew Collins, wingback; Robert Hargett, tight end; Ross, center; Necaise and Laureys, guards; and Carter and Amadae Collins, tackles.

Probable defensive starters include Hargett and Carter, defensive ends; Laneaux and Amadae Collins, tackles; Necaise, middle linebacker; Aaron Whavers, strong side linebacker; Haverty, weak side linebacker; Karl, strong safety; Britt Woods, free safety; and Dante Curry and Quentin Bell, cornerbacks.

The game begins at 7:30 at McCullough Field.

FACE-OFF—Bay High Tiger Mark Haverty (42) and Pass Christian Pirate Eric Dawkins (31) have a face-to-face confrontation during last week's Bay High-Pass Christian game, which Bay High won 28-0. SSC to travel to Mercy Cross

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will seek to get back on the winning track when they travel to Biloxi this Saturday night to play the Mercy Cross Crusaders in Biloxi Stadium.

Mercy Cross is 1-1 for the season, with an open-season win over Vancleave 14-7. Last week the Crusaders fell to North Forest, a team ranked in the small-schools Top 20.

SSC is looking for its first win of the season, after setbacks to Pearl River, LA and St. John of Gulfport. The Rocks under head coach Vernon Powell are young and have to gain experience on the playing field.

Coach Powell is impressed with Mercy Cross. "We are capable of beating them but we must be well-prepared. Mercy Cross has a small squad of 25 players, but they all come to play."

"Mercy Cross runs a balanced attack led by quarterback Leroy Duvall. They have two sophomore running backs in Thomas Bourgeois and Corey McDonald. I would have to say that their big offensive weapon is their tight end Morrow Harrison."

When asked specifically what SSC needs to do to beat Mercy Cross, Coach Powell commented, "We must control the ball offensively. We will adjust our offensive strategy to concentrate on the plays that we execute the best."

At this point, our offensive workhorse has been Jorge Ponjuan. David Diboll has been our best receiver. We must give our quarterback, Yasin Shabazz, time to throw the ball by good play-action fakes and good pass blocking by our line."

During the interview Coach Powell was asked how realistic were the chances for St. Stanislaus to come away with a victory Saturday night against Mercy Cross.

"I told our squad after Friday night's game that it is time for both our offense and defense to click. There is no doubt in my mind that with good execution and a good mental attitude we can be victorious. I assure you that the coaching staff as well as our players are dedicated to winning Saturday night."

Bay High defeats SSC in JV action, 28-14

The Bay High Tigers broke open a close contest with a little over five minutes to play to defeat the St. Stanislaus J.V. by a score of 28-14 in a game played Monday night at the SSC Stadium.

Leading the attack for the Tigers was Darren Washington, who scored twice during the contest. Martin Perniciaro hauled in a 10-yard pass from QB Chad Lafontaine for another tally, while 2-point conversions were made by runs from Ed Elliot and Darren Washington.

Scoring for St. Stanislaus was Freddie Wirstrom, who caught two TD aeriels from Rock quarterback Shannon Garrett. Gino Ascani added a 2-point conversion.

Bay High opened the scoring with a sustained drive, capped by Darren Washington TD run. The extra point run was good, and Bay High took an 8-0 lead.

SSC came back on a long touchdown march consuming over nine minutes on the clock. Shannon Garrett then hit end Freddie Wirstrom with a 61 yard scoring pass. Gino Ascani's extra point run knotted the score at 8-8, which remained at halftime.

In the second half, SSC took the opening kickoff and drove the ball 63 yards to take the lead. QB Shannon Garrett bootlegged the ball and threw to Freddie Wirstrom once again for the score. The extra point was no good and SSC lead 14-8.

With 6 minutes to go in the game and the ball on the SSC 2-yard line, Garrett attempted to run the ball but fumbled in the end zone. Bay High's Alexander Oliva recovered for the score. The extra point failed and the score was once again tied 14-14.

Late in the game, the Tigers tackled on two scores as Chad Lafontaine hit Martin Perniciaro for a touchdown, and with under a minute left Darren Washington scored on a one-yard run. The Bay High Tigers won the game 28-14.

Coach Cleveland Williams of the Tigers could not be reached for comment, but Rockachaw assistant coach Rod Herring said, "I think our boys played hard. With the exception of their opening drive, we controlled the ball the entire first half. Since these boys work with our varsity every day, they had no time to practice on their own. We assembled them with only about 40 minutes of preparation, so we're proud of all of them."

USM to face State in Jackson

HATTIESBURG— After battles with two nationally ranked teams, the Golden Eagles travel to Jackson to face the Mississippi State Bulldogs Saturday, Sept. 20 at 1:30 p.m.

Head coach Jim Carmody has a club with an explosive offense, as evidenced by the 300 yards rushing the Eagles racked up in the opener against Northeast Louisiana, a nationally ranked Division I-AA team. In that game tailback Vincent Alexander rushed for a career-high 149 yards, while fullback Randolph Brown chipped in with 100 all-purpose yards.

On the defensive side of the ball, the Golden Eagles are again led by last season's leading tackler Onesimus Henry. The junior recorded 16 tackles against NLU to spearhead the "Nasty Bunch."

The Indians rushed for just 83 net yards in the contest. But it was defensive back John Baylor who was named the defensive player of the game, after finishing with one interception and six tackles.

In an intense rivalry between the two institutions, the Eagles led the series by a narrow 11-10-1 count, after the Bulldogs got the win last season by a 23-20 score. Again this season the game is scheduled to be played in Mississippi Memorial Stadium (62,500), the site of the last five matchups. USM holds a 3-2 lead in the series games played in Jackson.

Mississippi State has 45 of 65 let-termen returning from a 5-6 club last season. In the opener the Bulldogs made good the return of coach Rocky Felker. In his first game as Mississippi State's head coach, his team pulled off a 24-17 upset of Syracuse.

Felker can rely also on running backs Hank Phillips and Marvell McKelphin to carry the load offensively, while the defense is led by linebacker Cedric Corse and cornerback Bruce Plummer.

Saturday's game, between USM and Mississippi State can be heard on the Golden Eagle Radio Network on stations throughout the state. Veteran broadcaster John Cox will handle the play-by-play action, with former Golden Eagle quarterback Vic Purvis doing the color commentary. Broadcast time is 12:45 p.m.

Following the Mississippi State game, the Eagles face road games at Texas A&M and Kentucky and an open date before finally returning to Roberts Stadium for Homecoming, Oct. 18, against Memphis State.

Bulldogs to meet Southwest Saturday

Gulf Coast Junior College's bump-and-duck offense will face a tough defense Saturday night when the Bulldogs play winless Southwest at 7:30 p.m. in War Memorial Stadium at Pascagoula.

"Defense is about all we and the Bears from Summit have to brag about," said Bulldog Coach George Sekul, whose team last Thursday narrowly edged Itawamba 9-7.

Now 3-0 on the season, the Bulldogs have relied heavily on the strength of their defensive unit in putting points on the scoreboard.

And Southwest, which lost its first two games before tying Delta 7-7 last week, has given up only 33 points while managing a meager 17 of its own.

Physically, the Bulldog offense "looks capable," Sekul said. "But the team is not mentally aggressive. The players are not blocking. They are just bumping and ducking."

In the Itawamba game, played in blinding rain at Fulton, the Bulldogs were trailing 7-6 late in the third period. They went ahead when kicker Chanthvane Adethsack of Ruston, La. booted a field goal from 35 yards out.

Gulf Coast's lone touchdown was set up when defensive back Donald McCorvey of Biloxi intercepted an Itawamba pass. The Bulldogs drove 25 yards with running back Wayne Rodolfich of Biloxi going in from the 2. The snap from center was bad and Adethsack missed the PAT try.

Sekul was high in his praise of Adethsack, McCorvey, who has intercepted a pass in each of Gulf Coast's games, and defensive back Jason Jordan of Greenwell Springs, La.

Jordan is credited with six solo tackles and eight assists against Itawamba. "His performance in all our games has been outstanding," Sekul said.

The coach said he plans nothing special for the Southwest game. "We'll go with essentially the same lineups and, unless things change, the same sputtering offense. We look like a team waiting to be beaten," he added.

Hearings to air mackerel regulations

TAMPA, Fla.—A Spanish mackerel bag limit of three or four fish for recreational fishermen and reduced annual quotas for commercial fishermen will be proposed for public comment at a series of hearings scheduled at the end of September.

The regulations proposed for federal waters would also require that all commercial and charter boats fishing for mackerel obtain permits.

Gill nets for Spanish mackerel could be no smaller than 3½-inch stretch measure, and a minimum fish size of 12- or 14-inch fork length is also to be discussed.

The Gulf of Mexico and South Atlantic Fishery Management Councils are proposing measures to reduce the catch of both king and Spanish mackerel to restore the stock to former levels of abundance.

The total U.S. catch of Spanish mackerel would be reduced to 4.5 million pounds and would be divided between Gulf and Atlantic stocks and suballocated to recreational and commercial fishermen based on recent catch patterns.

The use of purse seines to take mackerel would be prohibited.

Five public hearings are scheduled for the Gulf region:

Sept. 29, Corpus Christi, Tex., Texas A&M Research and Extension Center
Sept. 30, Houma, La., City Auditorium Wing
Oct. 1, Biloxi, Biloxi Cultural Center (Library)
Oct. 2, Tampa, Fla., Ramada

Hotel Westshore
Oct. 6, Key West, Fla., Teen Center

All are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. Additional information may be obtained from the office of the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council, Lincoln Center, Suite 881, 5410 West Kennedy Boulevard, Tampa, Fla. 33609.

The Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council is one of eight regional Fishery Management Councils which were established by the Magnuson Fishery Conservation and Management Act of 1976.

The Council prepares fishery management plans which are designed to manage fishery resources in the 200-mile federal zone in the Gulf of Mexico.

Bassin' with the Pros

Retrieval

One of the most important elements of skillful angling involves the presentation of your lure. By presentation I mean the way in which you "show" it to the bass. Presentation not only involves the lure's built-in action, its coloration and styling, but also the manner or fashion in which it is moved through the water.

According to Jackpot Bassin, a how-to book from the Bass Anglers Sportsmen Society edited by Deborah Johnson, presentation is "often called the main ingredient of bass fishing success. Choice of lure, speed at which you present it, control of depth, and lure color all play a part in proper presentation."

What will concern us this week is the speed at which you present your lures, also known as "retrieval." "I think the mistake most anglers make in retrieving most lures is that they tend to chunk it out there and wind it back in," states Ken Cook, Evinrude Pro Staff member. "The straight retrieve is usually not the best retrieve."

Randy Fite, member of the Johnson Pro Staff, emphasizes the basics:

"We've gotten off into a vast array of color selections, lure selections, and this and that Buck Perry is kind of an idol of mine and it's his philosophy of which I am a very firm believer—to go back to the basics. In other words, don't be confused about how fast I should retrieve this, should I jerk it or twitch it, or this or that. Use water how active the bass are. Let the bass tell you how to work the bait, in other words."

If you take a minute to think about lure action, you'll realize that the retrieve is important in enticing the bass into action, of triggering its predatory response.

"One of my theories—although I can't prove it yet—is that largemouth bass, being a predator fish, are hyped up with the predator reflex," Cook related. "One of the things that triggers that reflex is their hearing, their lateral line hearing system, and their sonar ranging device. It's such a key to trigger that predatory response that the sound the bait makes can or cannot elicit that predatory reflex. I think the steady retrieve does not lend itself to triggering that response as well or as often as a stop-and-go retrieve."

In addition to the stop-and-go retrieve, there are two other styles the successful angler utilizes: very, very fast and very, very slow. "That's because of the way bass eat," Ken Cook explains. "The very fast retrieve tends to trigger that predatory response. A Very, very slow retrieve—say with a top water bait like a Zaruspook or plastic worm fishing on the bottom—gives bass in a neutral feeding mood the opportunity to go through his series of stretch-and-yawn motions due to feeding behavior rather than the predatory reflex strike. Retrieving very slow gives the bass the opportunity to complete those movements before the bait gets away."

If you're working the lure fairly fast without getting any action, Ran-things: "Either the water is colder than you anticipated, which makes a bass a little more immobile, or perhaps because of weather conditions (such as high atmospheric pressure) the fish are a little more inactive."

So, what is the bass telling you? "He's telling you that if you're going to have success, you're going to have to slow your presentation down," Fite emphasizes. "Speed control is very important, but let the bass tell you how to work the bait."

Steven P. Starch of Chardon, Ohio asks: "What would an entry fee be in a professional tournament?"

According to Ken Cook, it depends on what you call a professional tournament. "My description of a pro tournament is where a person has the opportunity to make a living. It's B.A.S.S. or U.S. Bass, possibly the Hungry Fishermen tournaments on the East Coast. B.A.S.S. entry fees for this year are $450; U.S. Bass is $300. Anytime the purse is $10,000 and up, it's to be considered a professional tournament and so for those type of purses you end up with an entry fee of $100 or more."

Check your propeller! For top performance and reliability, the Johnson and Evinrude service experts at OMC recommend all boaters carefully check their propeller for bent blades and "dings." Even minor damage to a propeller can result in damage to gearcase bearings. Use a file to remove small burrs and nicks from aluminum or stainless steel propellers.

If a blade is bent, take the prop to your marine dealer or a good prop shop. Minor damage to propellers can often be repaired for less than

DWC STOCKS FISH

1986 has been a busy year for the fisheries division of the state Department of Wildlife Conservation. Numerous fish have been stocked around the Magnolia State as a result of fish raised at state-owned hatcheries and fish received from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

In mid-August some 20,000 channel catfish were stocked into the Yockanookany River in central Mississippi at two locations. More fish are planned for stocking there in the future, depending on hatchery supplies.

A number of lakes around the state have received Florida largemouth bass this year. 360,000 of the feisty bass have been put into Lake Bolivar in Bolivar County. Other lakes stocked with Florida largemouths include Wolfe Lake, Yazoo County, 25,000; Old River, Humphreys County, 30,000; Lake Washington, Washington County, 59,000; Blue Lake, Leflore County, 15,000; Townsend Lake, Humphreys County, 17,000; Minter City Cutoff, Leflore County, 5,000; and Roebuck Lake, Leflore County, 5,000.

In addition, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service stocked some 250,000 largemouth bass and over 600 one-quarter-pound bass in Grenada Reservoir.

Over 408,000 hybrid striped-bass were stocked from department hatcheries in Ross Barnett Reservoir north of Jackson, Lake Bogus Homa east of Laurel, and Oktibbeha County Lake near Starkville.

The National Fish Hatchery in Tupelo stocked some 75,000 striped bass in Okatibbee Reservoir north of Meridian.

Finally, some 325,000 redear were stocked in lake Bill Waller and another 375,000 in Neshoba-Legion lake near Philadelphia.

Both area school systems seek handicapped pupils

Bay St. Louis and Hancock County School Districts are participating in an ongoing effort to identify, locate, and evaluate children through the age of 21 who are physically, mentally, communicatively and/or emotionally handicapped.

Early identification of children in need of special educational experiences is most important to each child.

Furthermore, this information gathered from contracts with parents and other agencies will be used to help determine present and future needs as progress is made toward the goal of providing a free appropriate public education to all handicapped children, according to Gloria Dean of the Bay schools and Myrna Bourgeois of the county schools, program coordinators.

Information which could identify an individual child will be maintained by these agencies and will be provided to other agencies only in accord with the Family Rights and Privacy Act and EHA-B.

"As a parent, you are guaranteed to the right to inspect any such information about your child and to challenge its accuracy. Access to this information is forbidden to any unauthorized person without informed consent," Dean pointed out.

The Child Find coordinators implement child identification, location and evaluation of children ages birth through 21 who are handicapped, regardless of the severity of their handicaps, and are in need of special education and related services.

The Child Find works with the Department of Public Welfare, Department of Health, Department of Mental Health, local education agencies, ministers, physicians and other individuals to identify and locate children out of school and in school who may be in need of special education services.

Once a referral is made, it is the responsibility of the Child Find coordinator to insure that referral-to-placement procedures are followed.

The coordinators work with local survey committees at each school to implement this procedure. The following activities briefly describe the procedure.

Prior to evaluation, a parent information booklet, procedural safeguards, privacy rights, confidentiality procedures, policies of the Bay St. Louis and Hancock County School Districts, and the educational options and rights of students are explained to the parents.

After parental consent for testing is obtained, a nondiscriminatory evaluation is conducted. Students are evaluated in all areas related to the suspected disability by qualified personnel.

When a student is ruled eligible for a special education program, parents must sign consent for placement; and an individual education plan is developed for the student. Parents, teachers and students participate in this process. All students receiving special education services are reassessed at least once a year.

Programs that are available to these districts were students who are educationally handicapped, multi-handicapped, physically handicapped and learning disabled.

Speech and language therapy is also available in these school districts.

Cooperative efforts with other school districts provide services for deaf/hard-of-hearing, visually impaired, and emotionally handicapped students who need services not provided in the local districts.

It is the goal of the Bay St. Louis and Hancock County School Districts to provide free appropriate education to all handicapped children birth through age 21 by the year 2000.

Anyone who is aware of a child who demonstrates characteristics or behavior indicative of a handicap may contact Dean at 467-1021, or Bourgeois at 467-4655.

SENATOR VISITS—Seventh grade English students at Bay Junior High recently welcomed guest lecturer Senator Gene Taylor who helped them prepare proposals to be presented to their Student Council. Two of the three classes chose the need for air conditioning as their topic and the other class selected the need for more variety in the cafeteria as their theme. Taylor emphasized importance of using concise and exact terminology in drafting bills to be introduced to a legislative body. Possible loopholes in each of the proposals, as a result of non-specific wording were pointed out by Taylor who then helped the students re-word their measures. The classes then developed their chosen themes into proposals that they will present to their newly-elected Student Council. Among students participating are, from left, Brandie Bryant, Michelle Higgins (back to camera), Charles Johnson, Timmy LaFontaine, Angel Hotard and Juan Flores. (BJHS photo)

Series traces English language

"The Story of English," a nine-part series tracing the history of the language from its Anglo-Saxon beginnings to its current status as the most powerful language on earth, continues at 10 p.m. on Mondays on Mississippi ETV, ch. 19.

Hosted and co-written by Robert MacNeil of "The MacNeil/Lehrer NewsHour," the project is the story of the people who use the language, sometimes abuse it, but always keep it alive and changing.

The series covers more than 1,000 years of world history and travels to 16 countries across five continents to examine the origins and continuing development of the English language.

Incorporated into the programs are humorous and interesting facts about the origins of some favorite colloquialisms as well as samples of many varieties of the language including the inventive "slanguage" of California's Valley Girls and Gullah, which is spoken by a quarter million blacks on the Sea Islands of Georgia.

USM's Fay given research award

HATTIESBURG—University of Southern Mississippi Professor of Mathematics Dr. Temple H. Fay was awarded the annual Faculty Research Award during summer graduation ceremonies Aug. 7.

"This year's award goes to a professor described in this way by his departmental chair," USM President Aubrey K. Lucas said presenting the USM Alumni Association Award. "One of his most valuable assets is his ability to make things happen wherever he goes by bringing in fresh ideas and growing together people who can produce good work."

"His personal dynamism and gift of scholarly leadership have not only affected his colleagues, but his students as well," Lucas added.

Fay has presented his work in prestigious international journals and at many international conferences.

His diverse work has embraced the topics of category theory, universal algebra, modules and abelian groups, and mathematics education.

Since coming to USM as an associate professor in 1979, Fay has branched out into applied mathematics. He has participated in two separate National Science Foundation short courses dealing with oceanography and marine science and his research has led to projects at the NASA-Ames Research Center, NASA-Goddard Space Flight Center and the National Space Technology Laboratory.

Fay received a plaque commemorating the award and a scholarship will be given through the USM Foundation in his name and discipline during the 1986-87 academic year.

USM FACULTY RESEARCH AWARD—Dr. Temple H. Fay, right, receives the annual Faculty Research Award from University of Southern Mississippi President Aubrey K. Fay, a professor of mathematics, has built an international reputation in his field through his research, publications and professional involvements.

Sea level is not a fixed point; it is always changing depending on the tides. Scientists keep records of the highest high tide and the lowest high tide, and then they figure out what the average is. They do the same for the low tides. The point halfway between average high tide and average low tide is sea level.

The word "Yankee" was originally "Jan Kees," a derogatory term for the cheese-eating Dutch (Jan Kees means "John Cheese"). The Dutch turned it to Yankee and stuck it on their neighbors of English descent.

Q. Why do young people begin taking drugs?

(J.S., Braxton)

A. Most studies indicate that young people initially start taking drugs due to peer pressure and the desire to belong and be a part of the "in" crowd. Another reason is curiosity—the human is a curious animal and likes to experiment with the unknown.

Therefore their drug abuse problem begins out of curiosity of wanting to know how drugs will affect them. And some young people use drugs as an escapegoat - thinking that they will not have to deal with their problems as long as they are high.

Then there are those young people who use drugs as some form of punishment, whether it is directed towards themselves or their loved ones.

Rock Tracks

Billy Preston, an extraordinary keyboardist, has just re-signed with Motown Records.

A child prodigy, Billy Preston was playing organ in church and directing a choir by the age of seven. He went on to appear with a symphony orchestra and the Mahalia Jackson Show, record with the Reverend Alex Bradford, and debuted in the film "St. Louis Blues," all before the age of ten.

In 1962, Preston joined the Little Richard Band and toured England, where he performed with Sam Cooke and such local talent as Jerry and the Pacemakers and The Beatles. Cooke signed Billy to his SAR label which released his first album, "Sixteen-Year-Old Soul."

Preston's reputation reached Los Angeles, where he was signed by TV producers Jack Good to replace Leon Russell as resident organist on "Shindig." It was on "Shindig" that Billy Preston got his first opportunity to work with his idol, Ray Charles.

While in Europe on a Ray Charles tour, Billy was spotted on stage by George Harrison who promptly invited him to drop by the newly formed Apple Headquarters. In short, Preston participated in the "Let It Be" film, cut his first two albums for Apple Records, scored a worldwide hit with the single "That's the Way God Planned It," and soon became known as the "fifth Beatle."

Since then Preston has released a string of hits, including "Outta Space," which reached #1 on Billboard's pop chart, "Will It Go Round in Circles," "SpaceRace," "Nothing From Nothing," "Struttin'" and "Fancy Lady."

SALUTING
OUR4-H ClubsBy Daney Jackson
Hancock County 4-H Youth AgentPARENTS CAN HELP

Being a 4-H parent is a challenging job. Your 4-H members need your support. They need to have your backing, not only from a physical standpoint, but from a moral standpoint as well. Parents need to be supportive and present.

Parents can be supportive by reinforcing project objectives. It may mean encouraging your youngster to see the importance of feeding and caring for an animal or encouraging them to improve the quality of their photography work. Remember there is a difference between being supportive and being an authoritarian. 4-H members need parents' help in selecting and carrying out their 4-H project. Most project work is done at home, therefore, it is an opportunity to make 4-H projects a family affair.

Leaders can involve parents in the club program. Parents need to be better informed about 4-H work. They get information by attending meetings, assisting at community and project meetings and tours and by assisting with leadership responsibilities.

Parents need to be reassured and recognized for doing good work, particularly by the people who asked them to assume a responsibility.

As a parent, you should make yourself available to your youngster's 4-H club program. Then you will have the knowledge to reinforce, help and assist.

Parents can help! Mississippi State University does not discriminate on grounds of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age or handicap.

4-H LEADERS

Somewhere between the sternness of a parent and the comradeship of a pal is that mysterious creature we call a 4-H Leader.

These leaders come in all shapes and sizes, and may be a male or female. But they all have one thing in common — a glorious twinkle in their eyes!

4-H Leaders are found everywhere — at judging contests, junior fairs, square dances and talent shows. They always are preparing for, sitting through, participating in or recuperating from a meeting of some kind.

They are tireless consumers of muffins, expert at taking knots out of thread, peerless coaches and spend hours on the telephone.

A 4-H Leader is many things — an artist making a float for the Fourth of July, a doctor prescribing for an underfed calf, a counselor at camp, a lawyer filling out reports and a shoulder to cry on when that dress just won't fit.

Nobody else is so early to rise and so late to get home at night. Nobody else has so much fun with so many boys and girls.

We sometimes forget them, but we can't do without them. They receive no salary, but we never can repay them.

They are angels in aprons, saints in straw hats. Their only reward is the love of the kids and the respect of the community. But when they look around them at the skills they've taught, and the youth they've built, there's an inner voice from somewhere that says, "Well done."

State Fair to be best in 127 years, Ross feels

The 1986 Mississippi State Fair opens at 5 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 1 and continues through Sunday, Oct. 12 at the state fairgrounds complex in Jackson.

"We've put together what we think is the best fair in the 127-year history of the event," said Agriculture Commissioner Jim Buck Ross, chairman of the State Fair Commission.

"This year's fair is again running 12 days. Over the years, the fair has continued to make outstanding progress by continuously adding new events and attractions," said Billy Orr, fairgrounds manager and executive director of the fair commission.

He added, "This year is no exception."

"Some of the best animals to be found anywhere will complete in various livestock shows at the fair. The Stock Dog Trials are sure to be among the favorites for fairgoers," said Tommy Strickland, fairgrounds livestock manager and the assistant director of the fair commission.

New to the fair is an Opening Day Sneak-A-Peek. From 5 p.m. until 11 p.m., $8 pays for an unlimited number of rides per person. On opening day, gate admission will be $1 of half price and parking will be $1.

Other ride specials are planned along the mile-long midway set up by Farrow Amusement Company. For $9 per person, fairgoers can ride unlimited rides during Midnight Madness, Friday, Oct. 3.

Midnight Madness runs from 11 p.m. until 3 a.m. After 11 p.m., there will be no gate admission charge.

On School Day, Friday, Oct. 10, students can purchase a 20-coupon ride book, a $10 value for only $8 and tickets will be good from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The Pepsi Zoo and the Newport Mini Fair are among the fair's new attractions. The Pepsi Zoo, which will be set up on the midway, features exotic animals like camels, giraffes and zebras.

The Newport Mini Fair, also scheduled on the midway, will offer contestants a chance to try their luck at various activities for premiums and prizes.

Another new attraction is a pie baking contest. The Crisco and Family Circle Magazine's American Pie Celebration is scheduled for 9 a.m., Friday, Oct. 3 in the Trade Mart.

The category is pecan pie. Mississippi's winner will receive a free trip to the national finals hosted by Singer Eretta Lynn.

The annual Championship Fiddlers and Liars Contest is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 4 in the Mississippi State Fair Theatre/Budweiser Pavilion.

Other attractions include: horticulture, arts and crafts, industrial and food preservation exhibits.

Entertainers Willie, Nelson, Conway Twitty and John Schneider, Hulk Hogan and Chaka Khan and Maze headline shows in the Mississippi Coliseum.

Nelson sings at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 9. Tickets are $13.50.

Twitty and Schneider share top billing at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 5. Tickets are $12.50.

Hulk Hogan appears Oct. 4, 7:30 p.m. and tickets are $13.50. Chaka Khan and Maze appear Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. and tickets are $10.

Another Coliseum event will be the Truck and Tractor Pull Extravaganza scheduled from 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 11 and a 2:30 p.m. performance on Sunday, Oct. 12. General admission is $9 with tickets costing $5 for children under 12.

Tickets for Coliseum events can be purchased at the Mississippi Coliseum Box Office, various ticket outlets and by mail order.

All advance sales for Coliseum shows include free gate admission. Parking is $1.

In addition to the Coliseum shows, free entertainment is scheduled in the Mississippi State Fair Theatre/Budweiser Pavilion.

Nationally-known entertainers slated to appear are Eddy Raven, Shelly West, the Forester Sisters, Gene Watson, the Bellamy Brothers, Steve Wariner, Randy Travis and Ronnie McDowell.

Admission to the fair is $2 per person 12 years of older from noon until closing. Children 6 through 11, $1; children under 5, free.

GED-TV series on Mississippi ETV

A rebroadcast of the GED-TV series, designed to help viewers who never finish high school brush up on the skills necessary to pass the General Educational Development test, begins Monday, September 15, on Mississippi ETV. Two lessons will be broadcast each week; at noon, Mondays and Fridays, with repeats at 6 and 6:30 p.m., Sundays.

Upon successful completion of the GED test, a person is awarded a High School Equivalency Certificate.

The television series is divided into three segments: writing, which was produced by Mississippi ETV; reading; and mathematics.

The writing series covers basic grammar and writing skills. In addition to general reading skills, the reading series includes 11 programs in social studies and science, and the math series presents basic math skills.

A set of three study guides (a book for each series segment) may be ordered at any time. The packet of three study guides is a unit and costs $12. The set must be sold as a unit. If all three books are not needed at one time, the others could be used as reference materials for future study. No taxes or shipping charges are added to the $12. A teacher's guide for persons who will be tutoring those preparing to take a GED test is available for $3. Only money orders will be accepted, and they should be made payable to Mississippi ETV and mailed to: GED Study Guides, Mississippi ETV, P.O. Box 1101, Jackson, MS 39215-1101.

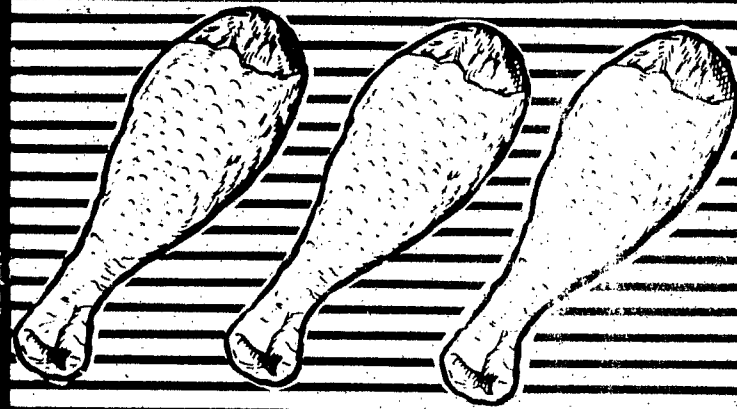

Persons interested in taking the GED test should contact one of the local GED testing centers around the state for information about the test, including dates it is administered.

In addition to broadcasting the GED-TV series, Mississippi ETV also will telecast a prime-time documentary special, "Project Second Chance; Dropouts in America," pointing out the problems that dropouts face as well as the problems that are faced by the society in which they live, at 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 1, with a rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m., Sunday, October 5. Immediately following this program, Mississippi ETV's "Access" series will focus on the high school dropout situation in Mississippi at 1:30 p.m., Sunday, October 5. Current data indicates that 45.7 percent of Mississippians 16 years of age and older never received their high school diplomas, and 67.7 percent of Mississippians 60 years of age and older never received high school diplomas.

SOAP BUBBLES

By Sell Groves

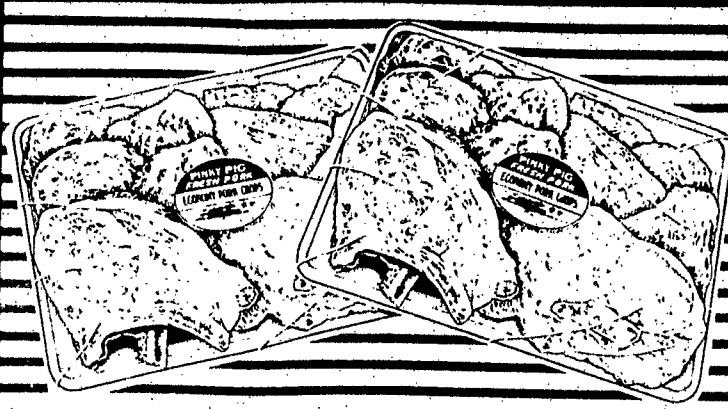

Jaclyn Zeman (Bobbi, "General Hospital") describes her new book, Beauty on the Go, published by Simon and Schuster, as one that "...any woman, anywhere, on any budget and whatever her time demands are, can find helpful. Most women don't have the services of expensive health clubs and makeup experts, but they can look and feel as wonderful as the women who do by following the routines that I've outlined in my book." Flashing a smile as dazzling as the diamond on her third finger left hand, Jackie acknowledged that Cupid was exercising his routines in her behalf these days. "I waited a long time for this to happen," she said. "He's the right man...and we hope to be married some time in June." Steve is a businessman whom Jackie did not identify further. "For now," she added.

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY SALOME

Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Little lambs may need extra help with back-to-school problems. Growups encounter on-the-job changes that need to be worked-out.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Keep your keen bulls-eye right on target. The best way to your goal is straight ahead. Avoid distractions and digressions.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Your social life is expanding and your friendship circle is widening. Lots of invitations pour in over the next few months.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) A wider range of opportunities opens. One drawback may be the need for a major change to take advantage of the best offer.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) Your aspect factors readjustment of out-of-line situations. One example is a decision that should be reexamined for fairness.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Summer's work starts to pay off now. Take time out to relax before the busy autumn pace begins. More help comes from new sources.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Look for new relationships to form around you. That could mean a realignment of alliances. Be careful about your next move.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) A major future development depends on an important decision in your past. Check all previous matters related to this new undertaking.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Don't fret. Your attempts to make amends is the right thing to do. Your efforts are happily received and even more happily returned.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Frayed relationships can be patched up to be as good, or even better than, new. A period of togetherness offers a chance to talk out problems.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Depend on your deep reserve of strength to keep you going during a temporary period of difficulty.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) Don't get crushed in the rush. Take things gradually instead. Your aspects favor careful preparation appraisal of plans before you act.
